Our Gospel this weekend from Mark portrays the beginning of Jesus' ministry. With His disciples, He started curing a demoniac in the synagogue, healing Peter's mother-in-law, and then attending to the sick gathered at Peter's door. But as much as He worked all day, Jesus never missed the opportunity to find the time to pray. His work was always sanctified, was always sacred, and was always grounded on the grace that abounds when one is connected to God, the source of all life and goodness.

Do we take the time to remain connected to the Source, the vine of which we are the branches? Let us remember that just as our body needs the nourishment of food, so does our soul, which needs to come before God to replenish our empty self. As you move through this week, take some time each day to rest in prayer, a prayer of stillness in the presence of God who is the beginning and end of all things.
