WHERE IS YOUR DESERT?

Our desert is any place where we encounter God. It is not a change of scene, nor a heroic adventure that does something for our ego. It is the place of truth, but also of tenderness; the place of loneliness but also God's closeness and care. The journey is precarious, but He is faithful, even though our own fidelity is shaky. In the place of hunger and poverty of spirit we are fed by the word of God, as Jesus himself was in the desert. The desert is the place of confrontation not just with our sins, but with the power of God's redemption. You come to see it as the place where there can be springing water, manna to keep you going, the strength you never knew you had, a tenderness that cares for you and a knowing of the Lord. These things are not the promised land, but they are tokens of love and may be sacraments of glory. Your life, your prayer, can be the wilderness to which you must look steadfastly if you would see the glory of God.

Sr. Maria Boulding, The Coming of God. Give Us This Day, March 2014
