In today's Gospel, we hear the continuation of John's account of Jesus' trying to explain to his Jewish kinsmen that he is more than they know. He is more than the bread which fed their ancestors in the desert. He continues to make "I am" statements about his true identity and his listeners continue their struggling with this new concept.

Recently Pope Francis shared these thoughts at the Angelus in St. Peter's square, 'As we are nourished by the Body and Blood of Christ, we are assimilated with him; we receive his love within us, not to hold it back selfishly, but rather to share it with others. ... Indeed in it we contemplate Jesus, Bread broken and offered, Blood poured out for our salvation. It is a presence which ... ignites the desire to make ourselves, too, in union with Christ, bread broken, and blood poured out for our brothers and sisters.
